

Corps seeks comment on Bay Cove dredging

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Mobile District of the Army Corps of Engineers is soliciting comments concerning an application for a dredging permit at Bay Cove Marina.

According to a Corps of Engineers press release dated February 20 and received at The Sea Coast Echo February 25, Charles Lambert of Lambert Land Company has applied for a permit to dredge 2,100 cubic yards of sand and construct 980 feet of bulkhead to provide a mooring site for a dockside gaming vessel. The proposed dredging depth is nine feet below mean sea level, and the spoils will be moved to a location on the Bay Cove site.

Although Lambert is listed as the applicant, the company did sell the proposed destination-resort/casino site to Marlin Torguson recently. Lambert has stated that he will remain involved with the development until Torguson has a gaming license and is ready to begin operation of the site.

Lambert said the company will start dredging as soon as the permit clears. "The activity involved in this is a followup to the original permit (issued in 1982) and will be done inside the marina."

"On the west side of the marina, we had left a little cabana. This work we want to do is a correction to follow the original design of the marina. The bulk-

Humane society initiates addition to animal law

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The recent death of two horses in Hancock County has prompted local humane society officers to pursue state level changes in animal law protection.

The law, 97-41-9 reads, "...refuse to furnish it necessary sustenance, food, or drink, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Thyla Rogers, president of Hancock County Humane Society reported the proposed addition of "veterinary care" to the required needs an owner or custodian must provide an animal.

An autopsy performed on one of the two horses indicated that the animal died of heart complications from parasites (worms).

"Under existing laws," Rogers stated, "cruelty has to be proven and negligence is not a criminal offense. "We would like to see the addition of veterinary care to the list of needs an owner must furnish an animal, when necessary."

State Representative J.P. Compretta stated, "I introduced the bill Monday. It now goes through the committee process where they have until March 10 to take action on it."

"The bill basically amends the present statute to include veterinary care."

Compretta added that Monday he introduced a separate bill for a minimum standards act for animal shelters.

The act, according to Compretta, would make procedures for the daily operations of shelters and care of the animals uniform throughout the state.

He commented that this was the second time he was introducing the shelter act, and that the shelter act had little chance of making it out of committee as there were many people who felt threatened by any law affecting animal care, for fear that it may be used to regulate the care of farm livestock.

"You must remember," Compretta explained, "we are a rural, agricultural state. The policy has always been to allow the agriculture and commerce department to regulate farm livestock."

"Even though the act has no bearing on farm livestock, there are people who feel we are tampering with the laws and will fight it."

Rogers, aware of Compretta's warnings, said the society is limiting its push for change, asking only for the addition of

Six arrested after parade

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Waveland Police Department Chief James Varnell reported Sunday's parade to have been, "all in all easy going," from the law enforcement perspective.

"It was a beautiful parade," he stated, "other than a few minor problems."

Varnell said the six arrests made that day, all involved behavior problems following passage of the parade.

Those arrested Sunday were: —Stacey Fricke, 22, of Bay St. Louis - charged with public drunkenness and disorderly conduct at the Waveland Resort Inn.

Varnell said, "Fricke had walked into the wrong room and the occupants wanted the girl out. The owners of the inn showed up to help remove her from the room. Words passed, and a fight broke out. The police were called at 5:29 p.m. and she was arrested."

"Fricke was released on a

$1,100 bond."

—Theodore Bosworth, 30, of Pearlinton, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and interference with a police officer.

Varnell stated, "Bosworth supposedly kept interfering with a police officer who was attempting to stop a fight along Highway 90. It happened about 4 p.m. He was released on a $500 bond."

—Roxane Guidry, 27, of Pearlinton, was arrested and charged with interfering with a police officer and disorderly conduct.

Varnell said, "Guidry was arrested near the Bayside Motel about 4 p.m. Same as with Bosworth, she was interfering as a police officer was attempting to stop a fight."

"Guidry has been released on a $1,000 bond."

—Sheila Longo, 27, of New Orleans, was arrested and charged with public drunkenness and disorderly conduct at Highway 90 and McLaurin Street at 3:47 p.m. She was released on a $600 bond.

—Raymond Goins, 27, of Pearlinton, was arrested along Highway 90 at approximately 4 p.m. and charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He has since been released on a $1,000 bond.

—Brent McDonald, 21, of Pass Christian, was arrested at the intersection of Highways 90 and 603 at about 4 p.m. and charged with public drunk and disorderly conduct. McDonald was released on a $1,100 bond.

An earlier incident, during the parade occurred in the Wal-Mart parking lot, Varnell commented. "Supposedly a fight broke out between two juveniles over a pair of beads. One boy was said to have pulled a knife. By the time we got there the kids had all scattered and we picked up four or five of them. They were brought to the station and released to their parents."

Gregory: Home repair grant monies not given

BY TRACI BONNEY

Concerning home rehabilitation grant monies the City of Bay St. Louis and the county recently applied for, there's good news and there's bad news.

First, the bad news: neither grant application was initially funded, according to consultant Thomas Gregory of Gregory and Associates.

Now, the good news: the fund still has more than $1 million left unobligated, and the applications from Bay St. Louis and Hancock County have been re-submitted.

Both the city and the county applied late last year for Community Development Block Grant funds that would allow low- to moderate-income homeowners to bring their residences up to standard utility and safety codes. Gregory said both applications were originally rejected for funding. "However, some of the funds have not been obligated yet. There's plenty left for both Bay St. Louis and Hancock County to receive the maximum funding of $500,000."

The applications, graded according to need last year by the Department of Economic and Community Development, were handled this year by an independent non-profit organization, Home Corporation of Jackson.

"Some questions have arisen regarding the

Bay school budget stays in black

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland school district will not end the year in the red despite an $87,000 funds cut, according to administrators' projections.

District business manager Garland Cuevas told the school board in a special meeting Monday that the district can expect to end the year with a $46,418 balance, if no further minimum program funds are withheld. This projection comes after a $87,372 reduction in minimum program funds that was mandated by Gov. Kirk Fordice in an effort to reduce the state's deficit.

Cuevas said that after he received the district's minimum program allotment, he adjusted the projected budget figures to reflect the actual revenues and expenditures. The district then ordered then needed supplies for the remainder of the school year, and school administrators made decisions as to what items did not need to be bought at this time.

After this was done, the district was able to absorb into its budget the reduction without

Council okays party during short meeting

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis City Council held a brief recess meeting Monday, during which they approved a request from Dan B's to hold a block party on Beach Blvd. Mardi Gras Day and passed a motion requesting the county's assistance on a project on Webb Street.

The Council moved to ask for use of the county's trackhoe on the Webb Street project, okayed the block party and renewed a five-year lease on one of the city's parks.

The meeting was originally scheduled to discuss with attorney Donald Rafferty two proposals for dockside gambling-related tax and fee ordinances. However, the councilmen did not know when they scheduled the meeting that Rafferty had court on Mondays.

The Council and mayor discussed some ideas concerning how to regulate a $2.50 per person boarding fees for gaming vessels, but took no action.

The Council set a workshop for 5 p.m. March 4, then adjourned.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Report after report for an entire week, until the night before, had forecast rain for Sunday, especially in the afternoon.

Sunday morning we had some fog, which gave way to beautiful sunshine followed by partly cloudy skies, and the Krewe of Nereids, followed by the Krewe of Eros and Hancock rolled down Highway 90 on a pleasant afternoon.

Did you see the number of spectators? They were six, eight and ten deep along many sections of the parade.

Young people, old people and those in between, all were given a big free show by our Mardi Gras krewes.

Mardi Gras is not over yet, as several very important parades are scheduled later within the next five days.

On Saturday, the land and also the sea parades at Diamondhead are scheduled to roll (well, one will actually float) for spectator viewing.

The Diamondhead Land Parade begins at noon in front of the country club, while the sea parade begins at 3 p.m. in front of the Yacht Club.

Several years ago I was given the honor of serving as the grand marshal of the Diamondhead Land Parade and really enjoyed myself.

I understand Waveland Mayor Stella Frilot will have the honor this year and offer my congratulations to her.

Pass Christian's annual Mardi Gras parade is scheduled to roll at 1 p.m. on Sunday in that city.

On Fat Tuesday, the Krewe of Real People is scheduled to parade through the streets of interior Bay St. Louis beginning at 1 p.m.

I am hoping everyone will take the opportunity of visiting the local parades, as your friends and neighbors put a lot of money and effort to bring these spectacular events to you.

I hope to see you at the parades.

The Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition will be held Friday morning at 8 at the Coast Electric Meeting Room.

The meeting room is located on the south side of Main Street by the graveled parking lot.

Participants need to park in the graveled parking lot behind the Shell service station.

Featured speaker will be Randy Smith, county agent. Topic will be utilizing Hancock's natural resources, which include agriculture, horticulture, aquaculture and tourism... "partners in progress."

Guest speaker will be Jurij Homziak, Extension marine resource specialist.

Sponsor for the Morning Edition is Coast Electric and chamber members; and guests are invited to attend.

It sounds like this will be a very interesting meeting, and some very important topics will be discussed.

On Saturday, February 29, a special American Red Cross Blood Drawing will be held at Kmart, Choctaw Plaza, Waveland, from 1 to 2 p.m.

Paul McElveen, store manager, reports this special blood drive is open to the public, as there is a serious need for blood supply in the area.

In recent months, blood need has doubled the amount collected along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Refreshments and free hot dogs will go to donors.

Blood is vital to life, and one never knows when one may need blood.

A better way for corrections

America's jails are bursting at the seams, and the cost of incarcerating prisoners is rising just as fast.

The Sentencing Project, a non-profit group that conducts research on criminal justice issues, has just announced that the population of American jails and prisons has doubled since 1980, with the rate of incarceration up by almost 7 percent in 1990 alone. Simply put, the United States holds about 1.2 million inmates today in its prisons and jails—455 prisoners for every 100,000 citizens.

Closer to home, the Mississippi state prison population has doubled over the past six to eight years, climbing from about 4,000 inmates to 8,000 in 1991. And, projections are the number will continue to climb, with some 2,000 more inmates expected in the state system during the decade of the 1990s.

The state's annual budget for the Department of Corrections is at $85 million now, and more facilities and more administrative costs can be expected as the inmate total continues to rise.

What do we do about the rising cost of housing law violators?

We respond to the recommendations of the private-sector Commission on Efficiency in Government.

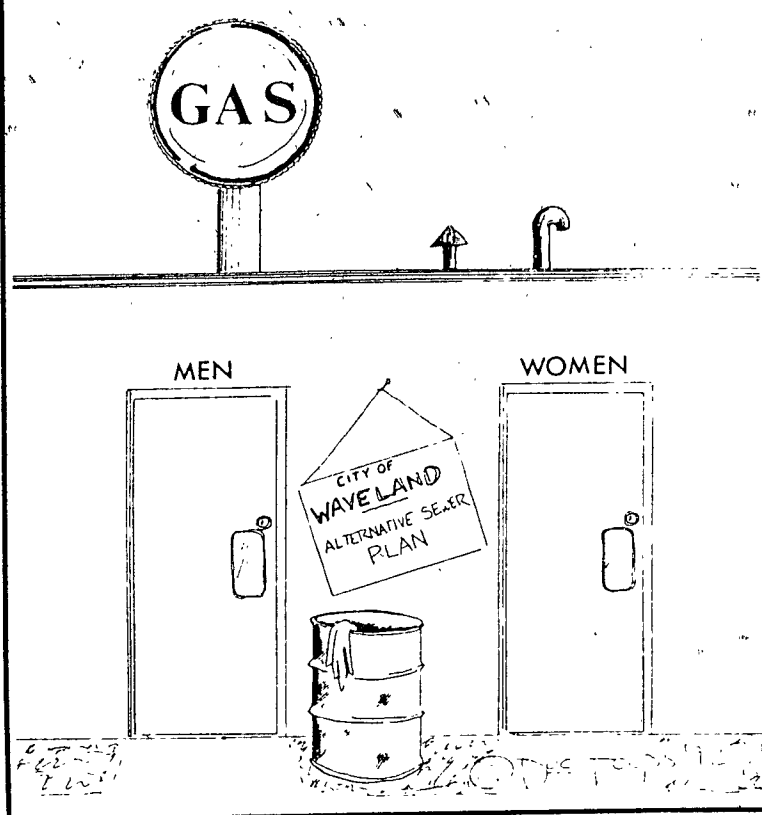

That organization of business leaders has just recommended a major reorganization of the Corrections function, focusing on privatization and an alternate method of holding nonviolent criminals.

If enacted, the recommendations of the commission could result in savings of $15 million out of the department's $85 million budget.

The time has come for a new look at Mississippi's corrections system. There is a better way.

Attorney who defended cowboy Dale Morris dies

Nobody hated Black Annie more than did Howard McDonnell.

The memories of McDonnell's rather lonely battle against "Black Annie" in the Legislature during the 1950s and into the 1960s came rushing back to me the other day when I learned the former Biloxi legislator and attorney died at age 82.

For those whose memory does not go back that far, "Black Annie" was the eight-inch-wide, half-inch-thick leather lash that for over a half century—until the 1960s—reigned as the cruel symbol of discipline at Parchman Penitentiary.

While almost every other state had abandoned corporal punishment in the state penitentiary, Mississippi remained one of the last.

Even for small things, such as stepping on a sprouting cotton plant, prisoners were spread-eagled on the ground in the cotton field where they were working, or on the floor of the prison camp and whipped by burly guards with the heavy, wooden-handled, five-foot-long leather strap.

McDonnell, as a crusading state senator in the 1950s, was a pioneer advocate of penal reforms, leading a heroic, though losing, fight to outlaw use of the medieval lashing of prisoners at the penitentiary.

While McDonnell didn't stop use of Black Annie entirely, at least legislation was passed restricting the number of lashes to 10 and requiring the penitentiary superintendent to be present when it was used.

I recall going to the sprawling Parchman prison farm with Sen. McDonnell in the 1950s, the only reporter present, accompanying him as he toured the farm with the gruff, recalcitrant superintendent, Marvin Wiggins.

The aging superintendent had been a chain smoker, and was suffering from what appeared to be acute emphysema. Wheezing and gasping for breath as they plodded the prison grounds, Wiggins underwent a steady barrage of questions from the sharp-tongued state senator.

McDonnell, who had a habit of nervously jerking his head to the side as he talked rapidly, suddenly noticed the prison official struggling with every breath as he tried to respond. With total naivete, McDonnell said: "You oughta do something about that cough."

For a two-year period in 1960-61, Black Annie was banished at Parchman by a new superintendent, ex-Sen. Fred Jones, who had been one of McDonnell's allies. But when Jones resigned the next year, the lash was back.

Not until Paul Johnson, a longtime political friend of McDonnell, became governor in 1964 was Black Annie finally banned forever at Parchman. And then, it was because of a promise McDonnell extracted from Johnson to end corporal punishment.

The role of the prison reformer in the Legislature was only a part of extraordinary career of the irrepressible Biloxian. To many in the Gulf Coast area, he was known as one of the most successful and flamboyant criminal defense lawyers over a period of several decades.

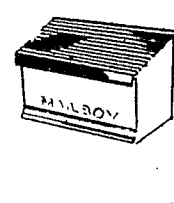

Unforgettable was his defense of "Cowboy" Dale Morris, the former Wyoming dude ranch hand and trick shot artist, who had come through Bay St. Louis late one night and slain a highly respected local citizen in a brazen robbery.

(Morris, it must be remembered, was the character who slick-talked his way out of Parchman Penitentiary and disappeared a few years later, and became the subject of Ross Barnett's memorable utterance: "If you can't trust a trusty, who can you trust?")

But back to the trials, yes trials, of Cowboy Dale Morris. Three times, Morris was tried for murder at Bay St. Louis in what appeared to be an ideal situation for a conviction: A beloved citizen killed in cold blood by a drifter from way out West.

Three times, the case ended in a hung jury, with Howard

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Stolen bicycle story has happy ending

To the Editor,

Bike burglars, beware! I grew up on a busy street in New Orleans, and on several occasions my prized possession, my bicycle, was stolen. I had a similar experience Feb. 24 when my boy's bike was stolen from the porch of a friend's home. It was easy to empathize with my son's feelings of sadness, grief and anger.

None of my similar experiences had a happy ending; but let me share my son's. We immediately went for a ride in the neighborhood to retrace his tracks. No luck.

A kind, compassionate policeman, Bret Ladner of the Waveland Police Department, called to report the recovery of the bike. This scenario happened and concluded within one hour of the heist.

Conclusion: happy boy, excited Dad and wonderful policeman.

Bike burglars, beware! Lesson learned: all bikes need to be registered and locked.

Tax dollars wasted on pork barrel projects like ASRM

Dear Editor:

Your ASRM articles in Sunday's (Feb. 16) issue told us exactly what the politicians wanted us to hear. But where was the insight that journalism is supposed to provide?

Given that the economy is the focus of this election year, and given the angry mood of many taxpaying citizens, one might have expected to see such phrases as "deficit spending" and "pork barrel politics" appear as integral features of the story.

And if you figured that your average reader might want an explanation that was more to the point, you could have come right out and told them: "They're spending money they ain't got!"

We end up using our tax dollars just to pay the interest, our children will end up paying off this loan, the deficit ends up getting bigger, and our economy ends up less competitive compared to the Japanese and Europeans.

Did not the irony of what was happening strike you at all? I know you attended the ASRM public meetings when NASA officials wrapped themselves in the flag saying this project was "vital to our national interests." Now what do we hear when President Bush submits a budget that says this project isn't necessary?

What we need is someone courageous enough or stupid enough to tell Jamie Whitten (chairman of the House Appropriations Committee) that, in these times of fiscal restraint, there are better ways to spend a billion dollars than on his pork barrel project. (Oh, Sam Donaldson, where are you when we need you?)

A smart leader would look on President Bush's action as an opportunity to focus on the launch system of the future (ALS), instead of wasting money on this hyped-up toxic-producing stop-gap measure called ASRM.

Volunteer drivers needed by Hancock social workers

Dear Editor:

Several years back the Department of Human Services had a wonderful support program called "homemakers." These dedicated workers freed social workers to do critical crisis work and family supervision by taking over the duty of transportation of clients.

Because of budget cuts, this program is no longer in effect.

Consequently, social workers must now spend precious time away from their work.

At this time, the Department of Human Services is looking for volunteers for the Medicaid travel program. Drivers are needed to transport Medicaid patients, adults and children, to doctors' offices and hospitals. These drivers could also work in transporting foster children for other needed appointments.

Medicaid and volunteer transporters are reimbursed at the rate of 20 cents per mile. A driver may even be a member of a family that consists of a Medicaid recipient. Drivers are a critical need at the present time as the social services staff is not large enough to provide these needed services.

If you are interested, please call me at 467-4100 during working hours, Monday-Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

How do you feel about the possibility of the counties reverting to the beat system?

"I'm against it. I think it is fairer for us, the taxpayers, as it presently is, under the unit system. There is less waste now."

Sonny Wolfe
Bay St. Louis

"The unit system has cost this county more money than any one will ever realize. A road foreman had to be hired, an office had to be set up, vehicles had to be added. The board of supervisors were elected by the people to represent their areas, so let them do the job and be accountable to the voters."

grading, the methodology and reasoning behind the way the grading was done this year," Gregory said. "I am working to have a meeting with the DECD and the Home Corporation to resolve the matter."

He said that re-submittals are on a first-come, first served basis, and while other communities decided to restructure their applications before re-submitting them, he re-submitted the city's and county's applications in their original form, making them the first to be re-submitted.

"The applications were more than adequate in their wording and formats. If I understand correctly what happened, the people grading the applications made some comparisons between the Delta and the Coast, and nowhere in the instructions they received did it tell them to do that."

"In fact, the applications are supposed to be handled on a community-by-community basis, based on need within each community."

Gregory said he feels confident that the applications will be funded.

going into debt, he added.

The school board trustees asked questions about various items in the district maintenance revenue projection Cuevas had given them, and discussed possible ways to reduce costs in the 1992-1993 school year, but made no decisions. They asked Cuevas to give them some projections for the upcoming school year as soon as possible before faculty contracts are brought up for renewal.

The school board also officially accepted Superintendent Robert Magee's retirement announcement. When board chairman Linda Penrose asked for a motion accepting Magee's retirement, Gary Yarborough made the motion, but no one immediately seconded it.

Someone joked, "Somebody better second it; you're making Mr. Magee sweat over here."

Willie Bradley seconded the motion and it passed unanimously. The board members each thanked Magee for his work and expressed their regret at his leaving.

After accepting Magee's retirement and discussing the budget, the board went into a long executive session to discuss personnel and salaries. The board took no action, came out of executive session and adjourned.

FELONY WARRANTS

Bay St. Louis Police Department Captain David Parker reported the arrest of three people last week on outstanding felony warrants.

Parker stated, "Arrested were, Barbara Peterson, 47, of Bay St. Louis; Michael J. Adams, 42, of Thibodeaux, La.; and Carmen D. Poolson, 32, of Bay St. Louis."

"Peterson and Poolson were arrested Friday. Peterson was wanted on charges of four counts of forgery and Poolson, on a grand larceny charge. Adams, arrested Thursday in Harrison County, was transferred to the Hancock County Justice Facility where he faces charges for grand larceny and threatening phone calls."

"Peterson was placed on a $10,000 bond, Adams on a $5,000 bond, and Poolson on a $1,000 bond."

veterinary care to the existing law. "We have been told that if we try to make the laws too restrictive, the changes will fail."

"We were advised to try for the smaller concession of the addition."

"It seems there are a lot of people in Mississippi who are against animal rights laws."

Rogers added that the present law, 97-41-9, excludes owners of farm stock intended for the purpose of selling, trading or human consumption. "The way the law reads, an animal intended for slaughter can legally be denied water."

But Compretta added, that statute 97-41-9 is intended for the regulation of care of pets. "Farm livestock is well protected by laws and regulations administered by agriculture and commerce."

"The problem is with pets. There is no regulation for the care of dogs and cats, and other such animals."

Adam, Willumitis complete hazardous materials training

Twenty-three emergency response personnel representing career and industrial departments and personnel from the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality recently attended a hazardous materials training course at the Mississippi Fire Academy. The course, Hazardous Materials Technician 472-II, provides information and training regarding chemical-

Those who completed the course included Brian Adam and Mike Willumitis, both of the Diamondhead Fire Department.

McDonnell putting on a virtuoso performance in Morris' defense each time. Often, the exasperated trial judge had to reproach McDonnell because he didn't pay much attention to the rules of evidence.

Finally, after the third attempt to convict Morris of murder had failed, McDonnell agreed to let his client plead guilty to manslaughter. The rest of the story about Morris/Parchman/Ross Barnett is forever etched in the rich comic history of this state.

And not to be forgotten should be the legendary career of Howard McDonnell.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

As the merry madness of the Carnival season draws to its close, I'm planning to share with a few friends the traditional breakfast of pancakes on Mardi Gras—"Fat Tuesday" or "Shrove Tuesday"—before we "don the sackcloth and ashes" of Lent.

It's an ages-old tradition in many places to serve pancakes on Shrove Tuesday, to use up the last of the eggs, milk and butter, as these were forbidden during the Lenten time in past centuries. And, although eggs and butter and milk are allowed in our times, and Lenten regulations have been lessened to a great extent, it's still traditional to serve pancakes on Mardi Gras, Shrove Tuesday.

When I was very young, I remember my sister and brothers and I used to gorge ourselves on "Shrove Tuesday" pancakes dripping with butter and thick cane syrup, to store up the memory of the taste all through Lent, which was rigidly observed in our household!

And, we children, at the express command of Mary, the family cook, would hold a coin in the left hand, to ensure good fortune all year, while flipping our pancakes, one at a time, of course, with the right hand. If we were not so expert, no matter, for Mary called the first pancake the "cat's pancake" as it didn't usually turn out as well as the following ones. And, every cat that I've ever had has liked pancakes.

A French nurse during my childhood days used to flip a crepe atop the rosewood armoire in my parents' bedroom to ensure luck during the year. I don't remember what happened to the crepe, but it must have been removed, for we continued living in the house!

Pancakes speak a universal language at table, from the thin French crepe to the more robust versions such as the Johnny-cake or the potato or apple pancakes of Germany, the latkes of Jewish cookery and so on. I can't mention them all!

If you think of the crepe only as a glamorous dessert, as in the famed Crepes Suzette, you're missing out on elegant yet thrifty additions to your menus. Filled with a meat or seafood or vegetable combination of ingredients, the crepe is an excellent entree. Chopped or diced chicken or ham or shrimp or vegetables are excellent fillings, not only for budget-watching days but also for more elegant suppers or dinners, depending upon the embellishments. One of my favorites, during the Lenten season or all during the year is:

CREPES FLORENTINE
(Crepes with Spinach)
Make crepes. (Recipe follows).

Filling and sauce:

10 oz. chopped spinach (fresh or frozen)

2 Tbsp. green onions and parsley mixed together

Pepper, salt, hot pepper sauce to your taste

4 Tbsp. butter

2 Tbsp. flour

2 cups milk

1 cup grated Swiss cheese

To fill and sauce the crepes:

Chop the onion and parsley fine, and saute in a little butter or margarine until they wilt, then add the spinach and cook until the spinach is tender, cooking slowly so that it doesn't burn. Set aside.

Meanwhile, start making the sauce. Melt the butter, add the flour and cook to a light roux, frothy but not browned. Slowly stir in the milk, a little at a time, and cook until smooth, then add the cheese, cannily holding out a little for garnishing the crepes. Season as you like.

At this point, add a half cup or bit more of the cheese sauce to the cooked spinach. Place a very generous tablespoon of the mixture on each crepe, and roll up the crepe. Arrange the crepes in a lightly buttered baking dish. Pour the remaining sauce over, and sprinkle on the grated cheese you've held aside. Bake for approximately 30 minutes or so in a 375-degree oven, until it's all bubbly and the cheese is a delicate brown.

If you have a little cooked chicken or shrimp or ham on hand, add this to the filling mixture for added taste. For the basic crepe batter:

1 cup flour

1 1/2 cups milk (approx.)

3 eggs

4 Tbsp. oil

Pinch of salt

Place a cup of flour in a large bowl. Make a hole or well in the middle. Place the eggs, salt and a half cup of milk in this well, and beat well together to make a smooth batter. Thin down with enough more milk to make it the consistency of light cream.

(If you can, let it rest several hours or overnight in the fridge, then thin down with a little more milk if it has thickened. Stir in the oil just before frying the crepes. (Makes about 8 to 10 crepes.)

Harry Longbaugh ("Sundance Kid") committed his first train robbery in Malta, Montana, with cohorts from the Robber's Roost hideaway in the Hole-in-the-Wall country. During these early years, he met Robert LeRoy Parker ("Butch Cassidy") and they formed the notorious Wild Bunch of bank and train robbers. The gang members were fond of vacation trips to places like Denver, Fort Worth and new Orleans. Rumors of the time had it that they may have passed through Bay St. Louis.

In Bay St. Louis, the Caldwell dog case was finally settled when Justice of the Peace, J.E. Saucier, imposed a $2.50 fine and costs of court upon Mr. Caldwell.

According to witnesses, Mrs. Caldwell's dog was run over and killed by a vegetable wagon driven by Mr. William Thorn. Mrs. Caldwell's son, Robert, desiring an explanation or apology, stopped the wagon and a little struggle followed. No serious damage was occasioned and the affair was soon over, Thorn leaving the scene with Caldwell holding a piece of his coat tail.

There came on for consideration the matter of issuing special obligation, negotiable, interest-bearing combined water and fire protection system revenue bonds of the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District, and after a discussion of the subject matter, Commissioner Royce Shiyu offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

A RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE KILN WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT TO ISSUE COMBINED WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION SYSTEM REVENUE BONDS OF SAID DISTRICT IN THE MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF ONE HUNDRED TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($120,000) TO RAISE MONEY FOR THE PURPOSE OF RECONSTRUCTING, IMPROVING, BETTERING AND EXTENDING THE COMBINED WATER AND FIRE PROTECTION SYSTEM OF SAID DISTRICT CONSISTING PRIMARILY OF RECONSTRUCTING, IMPROVING, BETTERING AND EXTENDING THE WATER DISTRIBUTION PORTION OF THE SYSTEM.

WHEREAS the Board of Commissioners of the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District (the "Board" of the "District"), acting for and on behalf of the District, hereby finds, determines, adjudicates and declares as follows:

1 The waterworks, water supply and fire protection facilities of the District have heretofore been combined and are operated as a combined system known as the combined water and fire protection system (the "System") of the District.

2 It is necessary and advisable and in the best interest of the District and its inhabitants to issue combined water and fire protection system revenue bonds of the District in the maximum principal amount of One Hundred Twenty Thousand Dollars ($120,000) to raise money for the purpose of reconstructing, improving, bettering and extending the System, consisting primarily of reconstructing, improving, bettering and extending the water distribution portion of the System, for which purpose there are no other available funds on hand.

3 The Board has employed Garner Russell & Associates, Inc., Gulfport, Mississippi, a competent engineering firm, to study the System, determine the nature and extent of the improvements, repairs and extensions necessary thereto, and make an estimate of the cost thereof.

4 Said engineering firm has determined the nature and extent of the necessary improvements, repairs and extensions to the system and has made an estimate of the cost thereof, which estimate is the aggregate amount of One Hundred Twenty Thousand Dollars ($120,000).

5 Said improvements, repairs and extensions are necessary, are economically feasible and would be in the public interest and of benefit to the District, and the findings of said engineering firm are hereby adopted, including the estimate of the costs of said improvements, repairs and extensions to the System.

6 Under the provisions of Sections 19-5-151 through 19-5-207, Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended (the "Act"), the District is authorized to make such improvements, repairs and extensions to the System and to provide for the payment of the costs thereof, or any portion of such costs, by and through the issuance of bonds, the principal of and interest on which shall be payable solely from the revenues of the System.

7 A sum not exceeding One Hundred Twenty Thousand Dollars ($120,000) must be provided and raised by the issuance of special obligation bonds in said amount, payable both as to principal and interest solely from the revenues of the System, as authorized by the Act.

If a petition signed by not less than twenty percent (20%) or one hundred fifty (150), whichever is the lesser, of the qualified electors of the District be filed objecting to and protesting the issuance of such revenue bonds on or before the aforesaid date and hour, then an election on the question of the issuance of such bonds shall be called and held as provided by law. If no such protest be filed, then such bonds may be issued without an election on the question of the issuance thereof, and may be sold in the manner provided in the Act.

SECTION 3. This resolution shall be published once a week for at least three (3) consecutive weeks in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published in the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, no newspaper being published in the District, and having a general circulation in the District, and being a qualified newspaper under the provisions of Section 13-3-31, Mississippi Code of 1972; the first publication shall be made not less than twenty-one (21) days prior to the date of such hearing and the last such publication shall be made not more than fourteen (14) days prior to the date specified in Section 2 hereof.

Kmart plans 30th birthday party

The Waveland Kmart at 344 Hwy. 90W will celebrate the 30th birthday of Kmart stores on March 1 at 4 p.m.

Store associates will sing Happy Birthday to Kmart, kicking off a year-long celebration.

Kmart will sponsor an employee cake baking contest. Cakes will be served as refreshments. Free balloons and face painting will be provided for a fun-filled afternoon.

The year-long birthday celebration also includes the exclusive right to sell the first edition of David Cohen's newest book,

"America: Then & Now."

Cohen co-published the "Day in the Life" series of photography books. "America: Then & Now" features charming and remarkable pictures by some of the country's great old-time photographers compared side-by-side with shots of the same subjects today. The book includes comparisons such as a

Charles Currier picture of mustachioed turn-of-the-century Boston bicycle messengers contrasted with modern spandex-clad messengers on mountain bikes.

"Readers of this book can introduce their children and grandchildren to 'the good old days' and rediscover America themselves," said Paul McElveen, Kmart store manager.

"There is also a special section of Kmart photos then and now, such as a 1962 storefront contrasted with today's new logo store front."

The book is available at all Kmart stores for a limited time for $13.97 (suggested retail is $19.95).

"The Waveland Kmart associates invite everyone in the community to come and enjoy the many special promotions and events we will be offering over the next year to help us celebrate 30 years of shopping up," added McElveen.

Kmart Corporation serves America with over 2,300 Kmart stores. The Waveland Kmart store employs 80 associates.

Kmart opened its Waveland store in 1980 and has an annual payroll of $900,000, McElveen said.

Hancock Holding Company announced record results for the year ended December 31, 1991. Net income for the year increased to $12.4 million compared with $7.9 million a year ago, and earnings amounted to $2.21 per share, up 51 percent from $1.46 per share in 1990. For the fourth quarter ended December 31, 1991, net income increased to $3.8 million compared with the year-earlier total of $1.6 million; and earnings per share rose to $0.64 from $0.30 in the fourth period of 1990.

All share and per share figures reflect the 2-for-1 stock split distributed on Nov. 4, 1991, as a 100 percent stock dividend.

Commenting on the results, Leo W. Seal Jr., president and chief executive officer, indicated the sharp gains in earnings reflected the contribution from acquisitions made in 1990 and 1991, as well as an increase in profitability of the company's ongoing operations.

He said, "We are pleased with the return realized thus far from the earning assets acquired over the past two years in Mississippi and Louisiana. The combination of these acquisitions and internal gains brought Hancock's total assets to a new high of $1.6 billion at the close of 1991, up from the year-earlier total of $1.4 billion.

"The increase of $16.6 million in net interest income from 1991 also reflects improved spreads between lending and borrowing rates and the continuing programs in place to raise the company's efficiency. We have been able to maintain a high quality loan portfolio, and the $24.7 million raised through the secondary stock offering last November has enhanced the strength of our capital position.

Arwood wins Navy patent award for paint additive

Diane K. Arwood of Bay St. Louis has received the 1991 Patent Award of the Naval Oceanographic and Atmospheric Research Laboratory (NOARL) for a marine paint additive that restricts the growth of sea organisms on ship hulls.

Arwood, a master's student at the University of Southern Mississippi's Center for Marine Science, was awarded a patent with NOARL scientists Dr. Arthur V. Stiffey and Kevin Hart for "an antibiotic compound—Polycyclic Naphthacene carboximide—PCNB for marine paints."

The patent followed research contracted by the U.S. Navy in the summer of 1989 through a grant to the USM Center for Marine Science.

The additive PCNB improves performance of traditional marine paints by inhibiting the growth of micro-organisms that colonize on ship hulls, Arwood said. Once attached to the ship hulls, these organisms establish a base layer on which other organisms gather. This negates the effect of the active ingredient of most marine paints—copper. PCNB stops the initial colonization of organisms, Arwood said.

Having previously worked with Shell Agricultural Chemicals and DuPont Agricultural Products in herbicide formulation and quality assurance, Arwood is scheduled to complete her degree at the USM Center for Marine Science in May.

The center is the only program in Mississippi to offer graduate degrees in marine science and oceanography.

Arwood, 40, earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Illinois State University in 1976. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Runge of Bloomington, Ill.

The Gulfport resident said may relocate his family to the area.

Ryan promoted to president at Hancock Travel Affiliates

Neal R. Yawn, senior vice president for administration of Phillips Colleges Inc. and executive manager of Hancock Travel Affiliates, announced the promotion of Rae Anne Ryan to the position of president of Hancock Travel Affiliates.

Rae Anne Ryan

tions (Pascagoula, Ocean Springs, Edgewater, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis), Cruises Only and the groups/meetings department.

A native of Gulfport, Ryan attended Millsaps College. She was a branch manager for Coast Federal Savings & Loan (now Magnolia Federal Savings & Loan) prior to entering the travel industry.

In 1985, she opened Tickets Inc., a full-service travel agency in Bay St. Louis, which was sold to Hancock Travel Affiliates in 1988. She continued to manage the Bay St. Louis location until her promotion to general manager in 1990.

An active member of the business community on the Gulf Coast, Ryan is a member of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, the Gulf Coast Art Council, Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties chambers of commerce.

She is currently serving on the national advisory board of Retail Travel Companies/Carlson Travel Network and pursuing the degree of certified travel consultant through the Institute of Certified Travel Agents.

Owned by Phillips Colleges Inc., Hancock Travel Affiliates has been serving the Coast communities for more than 25 years.

Savings Bonds sales in county top $1 million

"Fiscal year 1991 sales of U.S. Savings Bonds totaled $1,344,497 in Hancock County," said Jane Wiloughby, area director, U.S. Savings Bonds. In the State of Mississippi, $44,905,097 were sold in the same time period, while sales throughout the nation reached $9.15 billion.

Since the adoption of market-based interest in November 1982, the total amount of Savings Bonds held by the public increased from $67.8 billion to an all-time high of $135.3 billion.

There is a direct savings to the taxpayers of $70 million for each billion dollars in bonds purchased. This contributes to cost effective debt management and non-inflationary financing for our government.

Diamondhead Academy has district art winners

Seven Diamondhead Academy students were district winners in an art contest sponsored by the Mississippi Private School Association.

They were judged by grade level and category and are as follows:

First place: David Kim, Leslie Cordova and Robert English, Crayola, and Zachery Bird, Ink.

Second place: Blaire James, pastels; Mariana Oliveira and Robert Harms, Mosaic.

Diamondhead Academy art teacher is Dianne Seither.

On Tuesday, Feb. 12, in celebration of National Forestry Week, Smokey the Bear, Woodsy Owl and Sammy Soil visited the school. With the help of two representatives from the Forestry Service of Mississippi and several Diamondhead Academy students, a tree was planted on the school grounds.

Since Valentine's Day fell during National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans Week, students made valentines for these brave men and women. Each child designed his own card, which was taken to the VA Hospital in Gulfport.

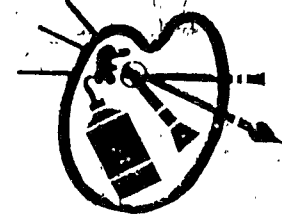

The Academy's science fair was Feb. 19. Judges were Eric Labat and Lt. Cmdr. Roger Parsons of Stennis Space Center. Many projects were submitted, and several students will represent the Academy at the Regional Science Fair on May 20 at Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Everyone who participated in the Mardi Gras parade had a wonderful time. The theme was "Back to the 50's," and students worked diligently learning dances of the era. Thanks were extended to all who helped sew costumes, provided golf carts and chaperoned on parade day.

Pre-registration for preschool and kindergarten through sixth grade is now being accepted. Students may pre-register for the 1992-93 school year until April 30 for a fee of $50.

After April 30 this fee increases to $100, and after May 30 to $200. Registration fees are not refundable.

More information about tuition, book and supply fees, etc. may be obtained by calling the school office at 255-1784.

"As some classes will fill up quickly, we urge all who are planning to attend the Academy to register early," said spokesman Ann Jackson.

Feb. 28 is the deadline for the green grocery store receipts to be turned in to Delchamps. "The community support was tremendous and we thank all who contributed. We are still accepting receipts from the Diamondhead Market and do so on a year-round basis," said Jackson.
